Considered one of the most talented Irish musicians in America today, flautist, whistle player, singer, and Juno Award-winner Hanz Araki has been lauded by publications and audiences alike. Three decades of musical exploration into Irish, Scottish, Japanese, and American traditions has yielded his distinct style described by Fatea Magazine as “achingly beautiful.”

As the sixth generation of his family to bear the title Araki Kodo, Hanz (short for Hanzaburo, his great-great grandfather’s name) spent his formative years mastering the Japanese end-blown bamboo flute. Discovering and relishing the melodic and mechanical similarities between shakuhachi and Irish whistle, Hanz applied his natural capacity and boundless curiosity to his Irish heritage. Taking advantage of the rich Irish music scene in Seattle, where he spent his youth, Hanz quickly became known for his exquisite instrumental work on both Irish whistle and flute and a haunting singing voice that was born to tell tales.

Over the years, Hanz has released 11 albums, including 2014’s critically acclaimed Foreign Shore. Festival appearances include the Austin Celtic Festival, the Maine Celtic Celebration, the Missoula Celtic Festival, KVMR Grass Valley Celtic Festival, Milwaukee Irish Festival, Bumbershoot, Celtic Connections, and over 20 years of performances at the Northwest Folklife Festival. Hanz has also been invited to perform with the Seattle Symphony, at the Gates Estate, and for the Japanese Consul General.

Hi Friends,

One of the two creators of the Corvallis Folklore Society, Nancy Spencer, died a few months ago. Nancy not only got Folklore Society up and running, but she produced many, many concerts over the years, and performed in our area for many years, playing Flute, Recorder, Penny Whistle, and the musical saw (winning the first ever national musical saw playing championship)... After all her years in our community Nancy went down to Ashland, where she created another folklore society, and continued to perform.

A memorial service for Nancy will be held in Ashland (with a song circle afterwards) on July 20th. I am wondering if anyone else is interested in going. I’d like to car pool, as it’s kind of a long drive down there. At least, long for me. If this is something you’d like to do, contact me at mjweiss@cmug.com

Thanks, Mark Weiss
